GEORGIA TAKES BASKETBALL HONORS FROM AUBURN.

Score, 86 to 17.
Athens, Ga., Jan. 16—The Georgia lads by defeating the Auburn quintet found some revenge in athletic feeling because of the Tigers' drubbing of Bob's followers last fall. We will have to hand it to Georgia on their basketball team—they have one of the best squads of any college in the south, and they bid fair to hunt for championship laurels this season.

The game between the Crackers and local lads was a good, clean scrap; and was basketball from start to finish, even if the results were a little one-sided. Although the Auburn lads were outclassed in experience and team work, they never said quit and was among those present when the time whistle blew. A somewhat new team represented Auburn in Athens. Due to a general shakeup, new men such as Newell and Arnold were found shooting the circular swine-skin at the basket. Clements, as usual, pulled off the stellar stunt for the local bunch, while Arnold and Payne boosted Auburn's side of the scoring sheet. Steed performed at center in this game, but due to that lengthy gentlemen, Brand, he was unable to turn loose much work on the floor. Newell and Cook, at guards, gave all they had, but these men, especially Newell, are in need of team work and more experience.

For the Cracker five Brand, at center, said put in the lime light, while Peacock and Lester, at forward positions, proved their good eye and accuracy in shooting goals. Their success was due to the same old story of fast team work and system, which will get there every time.

AUBURN QUINTET ROMPS ON WETUMPKA.

Score, 82 to 17.
Auburn, Jan. 17.—The Orange and Blue lads proved what they can do in basketball when they get on their own floor. Wetumpka had a fast little team and put up a good fight; but after the fast company experience that Auburn has had lately, the visitors found they had little show. Coach Donahue after the first half, which stood 42 to 6 in Auburn's favor, used many of his men on the floor.

For Auburn, Clements and Arnold were responsible for the biggest part of the large tally. Both shot goals with accuracy and played consistent ball. Steed at center, was always in the scrap, while Taylor and Cook did some good guard work. Other men who helped to boost things for Auburn were Payne and Forbes at forward; Newell at guard; Duncan at forward, and Watkins at center.

The left guard and center position for the Wetumpka five were filled by good men, and these two were responsible for Auburn not making more. The forward got in some good shots, and all played a good game without team work, but therein these men were greatly lacking in experience.

This game proves that the Auburn quintet can do about some when they get on home grounds, and have a student body behind them. If the lads keep up their good work, and they get good support from the students, there will be seen some good games in the old gym. from now on.

CLASS FOOTBALL.

Every evening finds the various class teams out on their respective practicing grounds going through gruelling work so that they may fast round into shape and get trained to such a point that when the referee's whistle blows for the class scraps, the battle will be fought in good old fashioned style.

As usual, the innocent freshmen will lock horns with the dignified Seniors, and the unruly Sophs will weigh in with the indifferent Juniors for four fast rounds of gridiron fighting. On class day the victorious teams of these two games will put up an "All Southern" fight for class honors, and may the best bunch win.

Coach Kirk Newell of the Senior team has a husky bunch of warriors to get a good eleven from. He has a back field composed entirely of the scrub backs who had such a glorious time with Varsity this year; but in the line he has very little known material. It will be a hard problem to get a line to be running mates for the plunging quartet of back field men; yet we know Kirk—and the Seniors say that when the whistle blows a line what is a line will be among those present.

Our old friend "Red" Harris is the big chief for the Junior bunch this year. The Juniors are lucky in having nearly every scrub line man to place on their team; but at present little material for backs is showing above the horizon. Still, we know "Red" Harris, and if he can teach some raw-bone seargents and buck privates a few stunts of his own system of playing, and what, with the strong line, the Juniors will have to be strongly reckoned with when championship honors are decided.

As for the Sophs these young raw-bones may surprise all when the time rolls round. Among their ranks out for practice there are some promising and husky bucks. They appear to have a good line, and with the back field men on hand, Coach Arnold expects to have a team that will do some gridiron work.

The Rube bunch, otherwise the innocent Freshman brigade, is a squad of men no one can tell about. Heretofore these young swine-skin artists have been a surprise to all concerned and this season they may pull off some stuff laid down by former Freshman teams. "Boozer" Pitts promises some surprising results—so watch the "Rat eleven."

Class day usually coincides with George's birthday, but as George's celebration comes on the Sabbath this year, the 21st or 23rd of February will have to do honor for the class day activities. The faculty has not decided whether Saturday or Monday will be the holiday. Which ever it is, will be the time for the championship class game.

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

(Rest of Season.)

Manager Clements has given out the following schedule for the remainder of the basketball season. He states that hereafter there will be reserved seats to be had for ladies at all games to be played at the gym. this year:

January 23—Birmingham Athletic Club, at Auburn.

January 24—Montgomery Y. M. C. A. at Auburn.

January 29—Birmingham Athletic Club at Birmingham.

January 30—Bessemer at Bessemer.

January 31—Mercer at Auburn.

February 7—Tech. High at Auburn.

February 14—Columbus Y. M. C. A. at Auburn.

February 21—Mercer at Macon.

February 23—Tulane at Auburn.

February 28—U. of Ga. at Auburn.

March 6—Marion at Marion.

March 7—Sou. University, at Greensboro.

Two games with Ga. Tech., dates not settled.

From the above schedule it can be seen that Auburn has many a hard battle before the season ends. The question is, will the quintet hold its own in these games? Every student in college is responsible for the answering. It's up to us, now. Have you got spirit enough to back and help make a winning team?

GOVERNMENT CAMP.

Several weeks ago, Col. Patrick received from the office of the Chief of Staff of the Army a copy of Bulletin No. 1, which contains information in regard to the military camps of institutions for students.

Last year two such camps were held, one at Monterey, Cal., and the other at Gettysburg, Pa., and both were very successful. The time chosen, during July and August, is such as to enable college men to take advantage of the opportunities offered.

From the point of view of the army officers the primary object of the camp is to give those who accept an opportunity for a short course in military training in order that they may be better prepared to discharge their military duty to their country should such ever become necessary. Those attending will also have the advantage of an active, healthful outdoor life of a military camp at a small expense. In addition to this the men will have an opportunity to rub elbows with students from other colleges while there will be arranged athletic contests which will add interest to the program. Here he will acquire habits of discipline, obedience, self-control, order and command and will study the organization and administration of first class modern armies.

Practically all Auburn men are eligible for admission to the camp which will last for five weeks. Those entering must pledge themselves to remain the full time unless compelled to leave for providential reasons and must also obligate themselves to obey the rules and regulations of the camp.

Students will be required to pay their traveling expenses to and from the camp, but since there will be several camps this item will not be excessive. Ample meals will be furnished at the rate of $3.50 per week or $17.50 for the entire period. The meals will be prepared by experienced army cooks under the supervision of an officer.

The prescribed clothing can be purchased for $5 or $10, depending on quality.

The government will furnish without charge tents, rifles, accoutrements and such other articles as may be necessary. They will also maintain a hospital.

Sham battles, with the assistance of regular troops, will be arranged in order that the students may better understand actual battle conditions.

The work given embraces the following: Tactics, military map making, road sketching, the handling and use of the rifle while if possible actual firing with the service rifle and ammunition will be held. Informal talks will be given by officers on many varied topics, including the use of explosives, signal flags, psychology of war, and the true military history of our country. There will also be taught by practice physical drill, marching, camping, field cooking, etc. The camp will include a short practice march of several days' duration.

The students will be divided into companies, each under a selected regular army officer who will be assisted by subaltern officers and non-commissioned officers selected from among the students themselves.

As far as possible the work will be confined to the mornings, thus leaving the afternoons free.

The camp offers almost an ideal vacation for the college student and at the very nominal price of $22.50, $5 of which will be refunded if no government property is injured by the student. One of these camps will probably be located near Asheville, so the railway fare from any point in Alabama will not be large.

Any additional information in regard to the camp will be furnished at the commandant's office or can be secured from the matter on the Bulletin Board.

We hope that many Auburn men will take advantage of this opportunity for we feel sure they will leave the camp much better mentally, physically and morally.

INTER-SOCIETY ORATORICAL CONTEST.

The annual contest for the Society's medal will be held on Saturday night before the 22nd of February. It has been the custom for forensic talent, representing each of Auburn's literary organizations, to meet on the birthday of the Father of our Country for some years past. Inasmuch as this date falls on Sunday this year the contest will be held on the 21st.

Both societies have elected their representatives and these gentlemen are hard at work on their orations. A matter of interest concerning this contest is that the orations have to be original. For the Wirts, the representatives are: D. D. Gibson and W. L. Howard. For the Websterians the representatives are: S. A. B. Wilkinson and W. E. Rush. Inasmuch as the Wirts won out in the Thanksgiving debate, the Webs are very anxious to even things up a bit. On the other hand the Wirts are very anxious to win, due to the fact that a Websterian came off victorious last year in this contest. So all in all, it promises to be a hot contest.

Y. M. C. A. BEGINS MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Committee Divided into Two Teams—Feud to Team Showing Best Results—Join, When so Asked.

On Tuesday night the membership committee of the Y. M. C. A. met in the Association office to arrange for a whirlwind campaign during the following seven days. Mr. Arnold, chairman of the committee, and Mr. J. B. Lovelace were selected as the captains of two teams which will compete with each other on a percentage basis for the largest number of points. Plans were laid, the teams appointed and the spirit of the campaign driven home to the hearts of all the workers.

The Association has set its aim at no less than five hundred members, and this campaign bids fair to make that aim materialize. There are several hundred men in school who use the facilities of the association, yet who never seem to realize that they should support it in return. Funds are needed to successfully operate any organization and this is especially true of an institution like the Y. M. C. A. Baths, lights and reading rooms, with their magazines and papers, come only as a result of the expenditure of money and money can not be obtained in any better way than by membership dues.

The two teams are working night and day, and rivalry is keen. The results will be determined at an early date, and the winning team will be given a banquet which will be solely for them to enjoy. If you have not already joined the association, do so when the men come to see you. The dues for the remaining five months of the session are only $1.50, and anyone can easily afford that. Join, if for no other reason than that you wish anything at Auburn to be on top.

HOBSON-UNDERWOOD DEBATE TONIGHT.

No, not the principals, to be sure.

But, nevertheless, there will be just what the heading of this paragraph indicates. It will be pulled off in the Websterian Society hall on the third floor of the Main building. Those speaking in behalf of the lone star of Alabama are Messrs. D. T. Ware and S. A. B. Wilkinson. Those championing the cause of the peerless Captain are Messrs. W. L. White and J. R. Campbell. Both sides claim that they "hold the dope," so everybody come out and see who is going to be elected. Society members are especially urged to be present as business of importance will be taken up.

Seven o'clock, sharp.

BOXING.

The boxing spirit has entered the circles of sports in Auburn. Coach Donahue has consented to give the lads who wish to learn this goodly art of defense, lessons. He will have classes of small numbers whereby every technique of the sparring game can be grasped. Coach Donahue is an experienced master of both sparring and regular boxing tactics; and it is with great interest and appreciation that Auburn students welcome this chance, enabling them to become proficient in the manly art.

AUBURN, ALA., JANUARY 24, 1914.

We are again appealing to the student body for its co-operation, in the publication of our college weekly. Often, all the copy which is sent to the press, is furnished by the editors alone, and since the editors are only a small part of our student group, this is manifestly unfair to the larger portion.

Each year the Senior Class gives to Auburn an annual. This annual is called the Glomerata, and, although it is supposed to reveal Auburn to the world, its prime achievement is the upholding of the graduating class. We consider this fair, and at the same time sufficient. True, the Senior Class "backs," or is behind, the Glomerata, and naturally it should deal with that class more than with others.

On the other hand, the Orange and Blue stands always for Auburn as a whole, and not at any time for any smaller group. It represents the masses of our college world, and as such should be the mouthpiece of the student body. Finances play an important part in any publication, still credit can sometimes be obtained; copy must always be supplied; and when any group of men are required to furnish the entire amount, material from which copy can be made becomes stale.

There are men in college by the dozens, who could lend us valuable aid, if they so desired. We ask that you be unafraid of rejection or of fun-making. Try poetry, give us jokes, help us all you can. Any information concerning the "whereabouts and doings" of alumni will be greatly appreciated. Social items are unusually scarce, and a well kept new year's resolution to help us make our weekly a more representative paper is heartily desired.

THE OBSERVER.

(By Overstreet.)

Have you paid your class dues? (Ditto, your subscription to the Orange and Blue?)

Remember, a gook doesn't pay. Don't be a gook!

Today is the day set for the race to settle the controversy of the cross country run, with Tichenor and Wilkinson as the leading contenders. The course has been altered somewhat to avoid going through town; our overmodest City Council having been shocked beyond measure to see that cross-country races were not run in full dress or at least formal morning clothes, forbid running on the streets. Quite an interesting run is promised. Two-thirty is the assigned hour.

Auburn continues to play in hard luck in basketball, having met with a calamity in the loss of Noble, who did not return, and being further handicapped by the lack of practice. However, we did manage to defeat Wetumpka (thank Heaven), and with quite considerable more practice should finish the remainder of the season with a creditable showing.

Class football is holding the boards at present, all of the squads turning out with a goodly number, and working hard. Not predicting a thing—but, a certain class (who were champions last year) had better keep an eye on that Sophomore bunch if they expect to wind up in a blaze of glory or said blaze may turn out to be a false alarm before it gets fairly started.

Great feats are now being wrought by the Town Fathers, rainmakers, and others who are endeavoring to produce moisture in this vicinity, the water supply being just about defunct. In these efforts they are opposing the prayers of the 821 men in College who are hoping lustily that the "doggone thing will dry up," having visions of a protracted vacation ahead.

Water, water everywhere,
But not a drop for us;
We're using talcum powder,
And we're learning how to cuss.
We don't need it for drinking—
There are breweries, if we must,
But we just can't stand the idea
Of wearing Auburn dust.

The Glomerata Board is quite a busy body these days and mean to give us the best annual possible. They ask all whose portraits are to adorn those pages to please have the pictures made at once. Mr. Abbott's camera having been tried on such noted subjects as Messrs. Powell and Williford without disastrous results, is warranted to withstand all shocks.

AUBURN NOTES.

The regular meeting of the members of the Conversation Club was held on Thursday night at the home of Mrs. B. B. Ross. Two highly intellectual and thoroughly instructive papers were rendered on the life and work of Chaucer by Professors J. R. Rutland and O. D. Wannamaker.

Miss Willie B. Rutledge spent several days last week in Columbus.

Mr. O. F. Luttrell of Brewton spent several days in Auburn last week visiting his son, J. O. Luttrell.

Mrs. Ben Green and Mrs. A. L. Dowdell of Opelika visited friends in Auburn last Thursday.

Mrs. J. B. Green and children of Opelika spent Thursday with Mrs. C. G. Perry.

Mrs. E. H. Agnew of San Francisco, Cal., who has been visiting friends in Auburn for the past month, has gone to visit relatives in Montevillo, from where she will return to her home in California the early part of next month.

Lan Lipscomb, who has been ill with typhoid fever for the past several weeks, has gone to Manatee, Fla., where he will visit his aunt, Mrs. H. C. Davis.

Mrs. Knockerbocker, of Iowa, is visiting the Rev. and Mrs. John Frazier.

PERSONALS.

The many friends of Mr. Sam Jones Smith will be delighted to hear that he was married last Friday night in Opelika.

Mr. George Moulton is to leave us in a few days in order to take a course of study at Marion Institute preparatory for West Point. Mr. Moulton is in earnest, it seems, so he will no doubt make a marked success.

The 22nd of February is drawing near and already quite a few plans have been made. Everything points to a brilliant occasion. "Crow" Wright is especially elated and says at every occasion he will turn over his place entirely for the day. Many girls have been invited and others will be as time goes by. An effort is being made to prevent any swapping of dances until the night of the dance. This will prevent so many dances being given with girls who never come. Everybody get right for a large affair.

Several veterinary students are in Montgomery inspecting cattle.

Last Thursday afternoon the Social Club met with Mrs. Alfonso Wright. The afternoon was greatly enjoyed by everyone.

Saturday afternoon Miss Willie B. Rutledge and charming visitors were delightfully entertained by Miss R. Wright at the home of Mrs. Andrew Buchanan.

Miss Mary McPherson was honor guest Saturday night, January 17, at a dinner party given by Miss Frances Duncan.

Miss Mary McPherson, of Montgomery, has returned home after a visit here to Miss Frances Duncan. Miss McPherson possesses a charming personality and was muchly entertained while here.

AG. STUDENTS BOOSTING THEIR CLUB.

Big Banquet in the Near Future.

The Students' Agricultural Club held their weekly meeting Friday night, January 16, 1914. A short, but which proved to be an interesting, program was rendered. Mr. R. M. Martin, the first speaker, gave a most beneficial talk on "The Relation of Birds to Insect Control." Mr. Martin's discussion of this topic showed that he had made a careful study of the subject. The next number on the program was an "Outline of the Future Prospects of the Club," by the president. He urged upon every member present to put his shoulder to the wheel and keep it there until every man in college who is interested in agriculture is a member of the club. Messrs. H. B. Tisdale, L. W. Rainey, A. L. Harrell, H. C. Appleton and E. L. Deal, representing the post graduate, Senior, Junior, Sophomore and Freshman classes, respectively, were appointed to enlist new members for the club.

For about eight years the club has been trying to elevate itself to the same social plane as the other student organizations. For several years we have been dreaming and planning to have a banquet; and for just these many years we have let dreaming and planning satisfy us. But the way of doing things has changed. We have pulled out of the old rut, put men to work and our banquet is no longer a dream, but a real sumptuous banquet. A social committee, composed of Messrs. J. M. Davis, W. T. Cheney and W. B. Farrar, will have charge of this work. See them about it.

The following men, Messrs. W. B. Tisdale, A. C. Foster and G. W. Holley, are arranging a series of programs which will be published in the Orange and Blue one week in advance of each meeting. If you are on for a talk, make some preparations so as to make it interesting as well as beneficial.

Now, fellow students of agriculture, we must co-operate with the above named men and make it our aim to get every one of the 200 men studying agriculture to become an active member of the Club. And, then, and not until then, will you be slapped on the back and hear the following words of praise: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, thou hast been" loyal to the club, now we will set before you a sumptuous banquet.

STATE TOMATO CLUB MEETING.

The annual meeting of the state agents of the Girls' Tomato Canning Clubs was held here in Auburn during the fore part of the past week. Special features of the meeting were the canning demonstration work given at the Station farm and the illustrated lectures on the benefits of these organizations given in Langdon Hall on Tuesday night.

Several prominent visitors from Washington were in Auburn for the occasion and gave very interesting talks on the work that is being done all over the country by the canning clubs. On Monday evening Miss Mary E. Creswell of Washington gave a talk in Langdon Hall on the "Girls' Demonstration Club." Hon. W. F. Feagin of Montgomery, also gave a very interesting talk, using as his subject "Education in Alabama." In his talk Mr. Feagin brought out clearly the rapid progress that the Girls' Tomato Clubs are making everywhere in the state.

On Tuesday evening, Hon. O. B. Martin, of Washington, gave a very interesting address to the county agents and general public. He was followed by Messrs. Davis and Treat, also of Washington, who gave a very pleasing illustrated lecture on the work being done throughout the country in this important line of industry.

The meetings during the day have been confined as a general rule to the discussion of plans by the agents for the work to be done next year and the exchange of opinions of methods as to how to do the most effective work, as well as to be able to get the best results from the organizations and to keep the interest alive and well in hand of the agents. In these discussions all lines of the work was thoroughly gone over. Miss Mary E. Creswell lead a very excellent discussion on "Contests and Prizes from an Educational Point of View." Keen interest was manifested by the agents in the practical canning demonstrations that were conducted by Prof. J. C. C. Price.

The following county agents attended: Miss Zelma Gaines, Autauga County; Miss Mary Ferninear, Baldwin County; Mr. Frank H. Watson, Calhoun County; Mrs. Nellie D. Shaw, Chilton County; Miss Willie M. Broxton, Conecuh County; Miss Iris M. Appleton, DeKalb County; Miss Dina Bankson, Etowah County; Mr. J. E. Hester, Franklin County; Miss Margaret McAdory, Jefferson County; Mr. S. J. Chandler, Marshall County; Miss Ophelia May, Macon County; Miss Lucile Carter, Monroe County; Mrs. Jessica E. McGuire, Mobile County; Miss Ruth Murphree, Marengo County; Miss Sarah Luther, Pike County; Miss Ada Kilgore, Walker County; Mr. D. L. Smith, Tuscaloosa County; Mrs. B. S. Hodges, St. Clair County.

The city of Auburn has two points of striking pre-eminence. It is hard to tell which is the most pre-eminent. The wireless pole is somewhat higher than the tank, but the tank is somewhat broader than the pole. They are both very serviceable as well as ornamental.

The pole acts as a lightning rod for the whole town while the tank is an ideal blow-off valve for class spirit. It is covered with blow-offs from '06 to '16. This tank is an admirable example for young students to follow. As old age approaches it settles down more and more, and it hasn't been full since prohibition, and seems to have sworn off altogether here of late, much to the disgust of its old-time running mate.
